

MEET: The Grove

The Scene: Socialize, sip, and savor the good life high above Atlanta immersed in Rooftop L.O.A.’s extravagant outdoor gardenesque gathering Grove. Here you’ll find new perspective and celebrate moments, all with a backdrop of amazing views and stunning sunsets.

The Space: The Grove is 4,000 square feet of secluded outdoor space. Designed by ASD | SKY, the area features an extensive amount of greenery, including Ligustrums and olive trees, with gardenias, cacti and jasmine vines adding additional layers of greenery. From secluded alcoves to nooks with couches and tables to cocktail tables with bar stools and shaded trees, the Grove can be the place to be seen, slip away for private conversations and business deals, or to simply unwind from the workday. Additional space includes a terrace one story up that overlooks the Grove on one side and the Pool on the other.

The Nosh: Featuring a lite bites food menu created by Chef Joseph Trevino, a culinary-driven cocktail menu, plus a signature frozen cocktail, local brews, and wines by the glass, guests can enjoy cocktail service from the comfort of their seats or bar service at the Grove bar. Culinary items include cocktail oysters, caviar and gougere, and king crab. Don’t be surprised if you also see L.O.A.’s mezcal cart on the move.

The Access: Open daily at 5 p.m., guests are encouraged to reserve their seats at the Grove the day of their visit as availability is released daily at rooftoploa.com/reservations. Walk-ins are only accommodated based on availability with no guarantees. Access to Rooftop L.O.A.’s Grove is via elevator from the Plaza level of the Interlock building. The entire rooftop, including The Grove, is 21+.

The Events: Beyond food and beverage, experiential programming and events will be announced post-opening.

Rendering: The Grove after dark featuring atmospheric up-lighting, partly covered bar, seamless transition between indoor and outdoor, and lounge seating surrounded by greenery depicting paradise-like escape.

Rendering: The Grove at sunset featuring relaxed atmosphere, a mixed seating of couches and high-tops, ample greenery like Ligustrums and jasmine vines, and guests socializing and imbibing.

The Privacy: The Event Pavilion adjacent to the Grove is Rooftop L.O.A.’s 2,000 square feet of indoor/outdoor private event space, which accommodates up to 100 guests seated (150 standing) for a variety of events and special occasions. Booking inquiries accepted at rooftoploa.com and through Triple Seat.
